Shock Doctor Joins Forces with The American Association of Orthodontists (AAO)

"Mouthguards are critical for all athletes but they're especially important when you're being treated by an orthodontist, because a blow can damage any fixed or removable orthodontic device as well as the teeth, mouth and face," said DeWayne B. McCamish, president of the AAO. "As orthodontists we see patients who suffer injuries that could have been prevented by mouthguards. Preventing trauma is a commitment both Shock Doctor and the AAO share."
